

Water Well photos

This is the first Well of summer 2007. It is functioning well supplying fresh clean drinking water for 5, 000 people. The next two photos, construction of water reservoir for this first water well.

Water Well photos

Construction of water reservoir for the pastoral nomadic community

The families are excited for the water project which is a gift from the overseas friends.

Water Well photos

School students are rejoicing for the provision of safe clean drinking water and how this has improved their health.

Fetching water from the new water well of summer 2008. This is when the testing pumping work was in process. There is still need for the installation of hand pump to this new water well.

Water Well photos

Michael standing with water engineers while drilling going on summer 2008. The ground is dry with scorching sun of 100 % but the good news there is fresh clean drinking water underground. This is our mission to provide a Simple Gift Of Water from the desert rock. We found it!

Water Well photos

Michael and Raphael, the driller busy with the drilling work. The ground is very hard with desert rock but the rig is fighting its way through the compressed system. The dusty ground is a result of busy and hard work. This is made possible by your prayers and support. The availability of water from the desert rock is like Moses striking the Rock for the people of God to quench their thirst. God is able is to make the way out of the desert for his people to have fresh clean drinking water.

Water Well photos

Thank you for partnering with us, the pastoral nomadic people of Northern Kenya. Thank you for your support through A Simple Of Simple Water. This is a Gift of life.

We are planning to drill another Water Well in summer 2009. This is the commitment of Michael, the water boy, to see that his pastoral nomadic people have safe clean drinking water.